

KING GEORGE OF GREECE BURIED

Eastern and Western Nationalities Represented at Services in Athens Today

ATHENS, Greece, April 2.—Such an imposing ceremonial as today marked the burial of King George of Greece was never before witnessed in modern Athens. The procession, which was of great length, presented a remarkably varied pageant. Its ranks were composed of a striking mingling of many eastern and western nationalities.

The royal princes of Greece and the missions representing the courts of Europe and the states of the western hemisphere joined with deputations from European Turkey from the islands of the Aegean sea and from Asia Minor, each of them in their distinctive national dress.

The soldiery and the clergy rivalled each other in numbers, all branches of the army and of the church being represented.

At the head of the procession the coffin, borne on a gilt carriage, was followed by King Constantine, the crown prince of Greece and other royal princes. The missions from foreign

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 2.—A large warehouse of the Huggs Distillery Co. in the western end of the city, weakened by flood waters, collapsed late last night, releasing to the river about 5000 barrels of whiskey valued at a quarter of a million dollars. The threatened collapse of weakened buildings was the only source of anxiety today states then came in carriages preceded by the dowager queen, the reigning queen, and the princesses. The Greek cabinet ministers, the members of the diplomatic corps, practically all the members of the Greek parliament, the municipal officials, a large number of prominent civilians and a host of deputations of patriotic societies took their places in order in the procession which was interspersed by large bodies of troops, most of which had participated in the war.

A prominent feature was the "Holy standard" of the Greeks, which never before had left its resting place in the church specially built for it at the inception of the Greek kingdom. All the shops on the streets through which the procession passed were covered with massive drapings relieved by flags, below the upper window being hung partially veiled portraits of the late king, which were wreathed with laurel and violets. All the public buildings in the city were similarly decorated.

sa the crest of the flood has passed Louisville.

Lower river points continued today to experience rising water. Paducah with water standing more than two feet deep in the lower section of the city faced the menace of a useless fighting plant. Henderson and Owensboro, safe from flood damage themselves, were taxed with the care of hourly increasing refugees.

At Wickliffe, where are gathered more than 3000 refugees from Hickman, Cairo and Columbus the shelter situation was becoming acute.

THE OHIO RIVER BEGAN FALLING

AT CINCINNATI—END OF FLOOD IN SIGHT

CINCINNATI, April 2.—After remaining stationary nearly 24 hours the Ohio river began falling here today. The indications are that it will continue to fall slowly and that the end of the flood is in sight.

CONDITIONS AT COLUMBUS, OHIO ARE GRADUALLY BECOMING NORMAL

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—Although companies of militia are still guarding the flood district conditions on the West side are gradually becoming normal. The Columbus death list was increased this morning by the finding of two more bodies, making a total of seventy-three.

Streets are becoming cleared, refugees are turning to their damaged homes, work of repairing and building new bridges is under way and telephones are working in some sections and one lone street car piles the flood district. By the middle of next week officials hope to have the broad street bridge, the main artery between east and west Columbus, in operation.

State troops today began a systematic search of the flats and piles of debris, some of which were washed several miles below the city. The two additional bodies were found in this territory. Although the city is fast regaining normal conditions relief stations are still being filled nightly by refugees.

FIRE ON LEE STREET

Caused Excitement But Little Damage

Three telephone alarms was the total of today's list of fires and none of the three was of serious proportions. This morning about 2:30 the mattress and bedding in one of the rooms in the boarding and lodging house at 30 Lee street caught fire and caused a slight panic among the household. The prompt response by the firemen and their quick work soon extinguished the flames, however, with no damage done except to the mattress and bed coverings. The cause of the fire was the careless smoking of a lodger while still in bed.

Two grass fires in Centralville necessitated the assistance of the fire department this afternoon, one occurring about 12:10 and the other a few minutes later. One of the grass plots that was burned over was on Beacon street, while the other was located at the upper end of Whitney avenue. Both of them were quickly put out by the application of the chemical.

CEREMONIES OVER THE BODY OF J. P. MORGAN IN ROME TODAY

ROME, April 2.—A funeral service of simple but impressive character was held over the body of the late J. Pierpont Morgan today. The mourners present were very few in number. They stood amid a profusion of beautiful flowers in the form of wreaths and crosses sent as tributes by friends in many countries.

Beside Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, the son-in-law and daughter of the deceased, stood Miss Helen Hamilton, his granddaughter; Thomas J. O'Brien, United States ambassador, and Mrs. O'Brien; Prof. Bastianelli, Dr. Allen Starr and Dr. George Dixon, the three physicians who had attended him during his illness; Mrs. Woodworth of New York and Charles Lanier of New York.

On the request of Ambassador O'Brien, the Italian government immediately granted all the necessary concessions to have the body of Mr. Morgan leave tonight on an express train at a quarter past six, which will reach the Simplon tunnel tomorrow morning. From thence the body will be taken through Switzerland and France to Havre, where it will be placed on board a steamer bound for New York.

Leaving Rome, the coffin will occupy a special car draped with black and silver fringe. Next to the funeral car will be attached a sleeping car for Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee. The transportation of the coffin from the hotel to the station in Rome will be absolutely private.

of the firm has been more and more committed to the junior members of the house. There never has been any statement as to the manner of subdivision of work in the present firm, but it is generally understood in Wall street that there has been no subdivision of work at all among the partners in a formal, definite and regular manner. J. P. Morgan, Jr., now the head of the Morgan house, is forty-six years old. Few men have left a son so completely in their own image. The physical resemblance was remarkable, identical in stature, in build, in feature—except as to the difference in age—identical in manner and voice, were son and father. He is well equipped to fill his father's shoes. J. Pierpont Morgan, the son, is five feet ten inches tall, the exact height of his father before the latter acquired the stoop of advanced age. His hair is black. He is broad shouldered and deep chested. His movements indicate ponderous strength rather than agility. He has the massive head, the small, deep set eyes, the heavy under jaw, the prominent nose and the calm, quizzical expression of eye of his father. Even the trim of the mustache is the same. Since the coming into the firm of Henry P. Davidson he has perhaps figured as prominently in the public conduct of the affairs of the house as has J. P. Morgan, Jr., himself.

MEETING OF MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

Loan of $75,000 Voted—Letter Charging Com. Brown With Exceeding Appropriation

The municipal council, at a meeting held this forenoon, took action on several matters of importance, including loan orders for street paving and street improvements. An ordinance making Smith and Nichols streets, one-way streets, was passed to be ordained.

On motion of Commissioner Cummings it was voted to postpone the hearing set for Tuesday evening, April 2, to Wednesday evening, April 3. These hearings include the proposition for a municipal market and Mr. Stekney's suggestion for the widening of Prescott street.

Exceeding Appropriations

A communication from John F. Donnelly relative to heads of departments exceeding their appropriations and admonishing the commissioners to exercise greater care in the expenditure of the people's money, was read and placed on file.

The communication was as follows: The Mayor, Aldermen and General Council.

Gentlemen: Please, let me call attention to your honorable body, the facts, where Commissioner Brown exceeded his appropriation, and where he purchased goods, contrary to the rules and regulations, lined out in the new charter. These coincidences are grave and unwholesome, for the reason they are likely to create precedents where commissions might overreach their limitations in spending the city's money. It also might stimulate, and encourage extravagance. This might be more apparent, also, where men could go along with their extravagance without being called to give an account of their stewardship and show why they are so improvident and reckless. Therefore under these pending and grave issues it is incumbent on the city council that it should act and satisfy the taxpayers that you gentlemen are interested enough, and that you are willing and ready at all times, and according to your oath of office to stand by the people and give them satisfactory proofs by your actions, so that the culpable and those disregarding order and law shall be both reprimanded and punished, and well established laws and authority must be respected. The wishes of the people should be judiciously and promptly carried out. If not the order of the day is chaos. Gentlemen, my intentions and motives are serving and honest, in bringing these matters before you. It is generally conceded you should have done this before without anybody demanding it, as these are the very things that come within the scope of your jurisdiction and power. You commissioners are our guardians under present conditions, and there is no shifting of responsibilities. In fact you are the very body that regulates and propels our financial and material structure. You must stand erect and especially when we are suffering and feeling the pressure of intolerance and heavy burdens.

Yours, very respectfully,
John F. Donnelly.

The communication was read and ordered on file.

Notice of Suit

Notice of suit against the city by Ervin L. Hall, was referred to the city solicitor.

Order to Borrow $75,000

An order to borrow $75,000 for the paving of streets was introduced by Commissioner Donnelly and was assigned for a hearing Tuesday, April 15, at 2 o'clock.

Public Burying Grounds

An order to appropriate revenues of the cemetery department from the general treasury fund and placed to the credit of the public burying ground fund, was introduced by Commissioner Cummings and the sum to be appropriated is something over $1900. The transfer was voted.

To Keep Gasoline

The petition of Horace S. Bacon to keep store and use gasoline for fire improvements and alterations to fire houses was up for final action and, on motion of Mr. Cummings, was adopted. The order was accompanied by a list of estimates for the different houses.

For Street Graveling

An order introduced by Commissioner James E. Donnelly to borrow $15,000 for graveling streets, came up for final action and was adopted.

Street Extensions

The following estimates for street extensions and improvements were submitted by City Engineer Kearney:

Fairmount street, from Wyman to Almsur street, according to plans of William S. Southworth, would cost $2500 to rough grade and pay for the land at assessed value. And to build a macadam road with concrete sidewalks would cost $1200 more.

Estimate of Clitheron street extension, street 40 feet wide, would cost $2600, rough grade and including land damages, $1000 extra.

Estimate for Porter street, 40 feet wide, for rough grade including land damages, $2400 and $950 extra for macadam and concrete sidewalks.

To Audit the Books

Commissioner George H. Brown went to Boston this afternoon to consult with Chief Gettym of the bureau of statistics and labor relative to the auditing of the financial books of this city. It is expected that the work of auditing the books will be begun within a few days.

ATTACK UPON MELLETT IN RIOTS

B. J. Rothwell Assails Strike Situation Acute in New Haven President Auburn, N. Y.

BOSTON, April 2.—President Charles B. Mellett of the New Haven railroad was charged with "violating the common sense" as well as "common decency" by Bernard J. Rothwell, a leader in the hour of the strike, before a meeting of the chamber of commerce in New Haven yesterday afternoon.

The meeting, called to consider the report of the directors of the chamber of commerce, made public last week, attacked the attack on their business, led by Rothwell, and after voting all amendments, adopted the report as submitted.

Before the action was taken, however, Rothwell's remarks had been passed on by the New Haven and its officers and the business of the directors had been severely criticized. The criticism was frequently interrupted by cries from the majority of the members present who stood firmly behind their strikers, and after two hours' discussion, all light to change the report was abandoned.

Saturday, April 13, is "quarter day" at the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

G.O.P. CONGRESS FIGHT

Cutting Defeated Gleason for Nomination

BOSTON, April 2.—Former Representative Alfred L. Cutting of Weston won the republican nomination for congressman in the 11th district yesterday, defeating his opponent, Mayor James H. Gleason of Marlboro, by a vote of more than two to one. There was no opposition in the democratic or progressive parties and the nominations were secured respectively by Ex-Congressman John J. Mitchell of Marlboro and Norman White of Brookline.

Little interest was evinced in the choosing of a man to succeed John W. Weeks, the newly elected United States senator, and the vote cast at the primaries yesterday was extraordinary light. In seven of 25 of Boston, there was a voting strength of 350, only 129 persons cast their ballots. The election comes on April 15.

BABY BURNED AND ITCHED TERRIBLY

Broke Out in Sores. Spread over Face and Ears. Top of Head Raw. Water Poured Out. Formed Thick Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

29 Grotto Ave., Pawtucket, R. I.—"When my baby was fourteen months old his face and head broke out in sores. His eyes became swollen and inflamed and then the inflammation spread all over his face and ears and the top of his head was fairly raw. It started with pimples and then water would pour out and that would form a thick crust, and when he cried this crust would crack and bleed would come, too. It kept getting worse. He would keep me up at night crying and scratching all the blood would run down his neck and ears. I had to wrap his hands with rags so he would not scratch himself. His suffering was terrible. The eruption burned and itched terribly and made him cross and he could not sleep. He had sores on his chin and back of the ears and all the top of his head was one thick crust. I had to cut his hair to the crust. "I was told baby had eczema. A friend came in one day and told me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, which I did. The second week he was entirely well. Two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment cured my baby." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Richard, Apr. 22, 1913. Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. 7, Boston." Ask Dr. who always send shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

INJURED IN RIOTS

Strike Situation Acute in Auburn, N. Y.

AUBURN, N. Y., April 2.—The cordage strike situation, involving more than 150 operatives at the International Harvester company and the Columbia Rope company shops, became more acute yesterday than at any other time since the employer walked out two weeks ago.

After a series of riots in which 11 persons were hurt, Chief of Police Bell yesterday night he would put his entire force at the doors of the mills today. Two operatives hurt today were taken to the city hospital. Several injured women participated in the trouble.

Strikers out at the International Harvester company mills announced yesterday the recognition of the union has been added to their demand for better wages.

M. SCHWAB RESIGNS

As President of Bethlehem Steel Co.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Charles M. Schwab resigned yesterday as president of the Bethlehem Steel company to become chairman of the board of directors of the same company. E. G. Crozer was elected president in his stead.

Several other shifts were made in the personnel at meetings of the stockholders and the directors. They were the result of "the very large increase in the business" of the company. It was announced, and was made "without any material changes in the respective duties beyond adding greatly to their responsibilities."

Mr. Schwab's new office was created for him. He retains his office as chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and it is not his intention "to lose any of his close personal interest in or control with the Bethlehem Steel company," the official statement says.

PARCEL POST HITS HARD

The Express Companies Suffer Heavy Losses

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Express companies of the country have been hit hard by the operation of the new parcel post system, according to statements submitted to the Interstate Commerce commission yesterday by counsel for the companies in their final arguments against the reduction in express rates proposed by the commission.

It was declared that the companies have suffered a loss approximating 25 per cent. in small package business—a loss which amounts to about 6 per cent. of the gross revenue of the companies.

Walker D. Hines asserted that for the five companies he represented—the Adams, American, United States, Southern and Wells-Fargo—application of the proposed rates to present business would reduce revenues about $25,000,000 a year, or 5.55 cents on every dollar's worth of business done.

Charles F. Fairchild of the New York chamber of commerce insisted that the proposed rates would yield an ample revenue to the express companies. He maintained, also, that the present allowances made by the express companies to the railroads for transportation service were excessive.

Miss Lettie Gilley, of Danville, Vermont, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hunt in the North village.

The parish club of the Unitarian church at the center will continue the Sunday evening meetings and some of the subjects will be as follows:

On April 13, Dr. Edward A. Horton, chaplain of the Massachusetts senate, also chaplain of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, will address the Massachusetts club.

On April 27, there will be a discussion from the general subject. At this time Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton of Boston will give a temperance lecture.

May 11, the subject of co-operation among organizations will be resumed, and the Ninth or Hundred club will be the specially invited guests, speaker to be announced.

May 25, Rev. H. H. Sanderson of Cambridge will speak on "Cooperation Between City and Country Churches."

Topics and mentioned are filled by committee, and every one is invited to contribute ideas when special invitation is extended to some other organization.

No collection is taken at these services, but necessary expenses are paid from the club treasury. A food table will be given by the club on Saturday, April 27, as advertised in another column.

INVESTIGATING DEATH

Hint That Bride of 73 Was Poisoned

PHREBODY, April 2.—The romance of

Mr. Emily Wainwright Brown McGovern,

years her junior, had a new chapter added yesterday when at the request of

Dr. H. H. McLaughlin, medical examiner, H. K. Foster conducted an autopsy on the body of the woman whose marriage last November supposedly had ended. Mrs. McGovern died last Sunday. She left her property, valued at $3500, to her husband.

As a result of the autopsy, the various organs have been sent to Prof. W. H.

Whitney of the Harvard medical school to be examined for traces of poison.

Two friends, wife of Fred L. Day of Lowell street, Lowell, and Mrs. A. H. Jackson of Lowell, were not satisfied with the attending physician's report as to the cause of death, and through their attorney, Ralph W. Brown of Lowell, took the matter to the district attorney Harry G. Atwell of Essex county. The district attorney ordered Medical Examiner H. K. Foster to perform an autopsy.

At the conclusion of the autopsy on Friday night, it was unable to tell what caused the woman's death, as her body had been embalmed. Her organs will be sent immediately to Prof. Whitney of Harvard for chemical analysis.

This step is taken upon orders of District Attorney Atwell. I knew neither Mr. McGovern nor Mrs. McGovern, and have no knowledge of the circumstances under which the woman lived or died."

MANY FAMILIES ARE FLEEING

Desperate Flood Conditions Along the Ohio River—Water Continues to Rise

CAIRO, Ill., April 1.—Flood conditions along the Ohio river levees here are declared by the oldest citizens to be the most desperate in their time. The water is rising at the rate of about one foot a day and now stands two feet and eight inches from the top of the concrete wall built at the levee.

While this situation is not encouraging the reports of the weather bureau here of up-river and tributary conditions were enough to cause further alarm. No reports came of receding waters as far away as Cincinnati, while some tributaries were reported rising. It is generally believed that the high stage will not be reached before Wednesday night or Thursday.

The city is sending its women and children out on every train. The weather continues beautiful.

At a meeting between officials of Alexandria county, the city of Cairo and Colonel D. J. Moriarty of the Seventh regiment, Illinois National guard, it was agreed to place the entire situation in charge of Col. Moriarty. The result of this, according to the colonel, will be the arrest of all persons who refuse to work.

Engineers were called into conference by the colonel and asked for descriptions of the weak points that special attention might be given them.

The Seventh regiment, which had headquarters in St. Mary's park today, moved its equipment into a large wharf boat in Ohio. This places all the quarters of the troops on boats. On Monday City, it is said, a critical situation is developing. Nearly every home in the lowlands has been deserted and wagons loaded with furniture, trunks and household effects of every description are depositing them at railroad stations.

More Bodies Recovered

COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—With the recovery of three more bodies from wreckage in the west side of this city the toll of the flood disaster on that side stood at 70. The number of missing remains large and three flood victims have died within the last 24 hours as a direct result of the ordeal through which they passed before being rescued.

Hundreds of men were at work today attempting to recover bodies supposed to be buried under the huge piles of wreckage in the vicinity of Greenlawn cemetery. Martial law has been withdrawn from a considerable part of the flood-swept area.

Constructive relief work in Ohio will be the object toward which the efforts of the relief organizations will now be bent, Gov. Cox announced today. A definite plan will be formulated tomorrow, when the state relief commission will confer with Gov. Cox, Miss Mahel Boardman, national secretary of the Red Cross and Ernest P. Dicknell, national director of the Red Cross.

BUSY DAY AT Y. W. C. A.

Educational Club Held Celebration

REV. WILSON WATERS AND MAYOR O'DONNELL SPEAKERS

Lowell Day Observance Was a Most Pleasing One—Program of Music, Followed by Luncheon

Today was an active one for the members of the Educational club of the Young Women's Christian Association. Early in the afternoon, Rev. Wilson Waters delivered an address before that body, speaking on matters pertaining to education in which the club is deeply interested.

Later in the afternoon, His Honor Mayor James E. O'Donnell spoke at the Lowell day observance. This latter was a very enjoyable affair and here was rendered a program consisting of piano and vocal solos and recitations. Afterwards a rainbow luncheon was served by a committee. Mayor O'Donnell's speech was as follows:

The city of Lowell has much to be proud of on this, its 75th birthday anniversary, but to nothing can it point with more pride than to this beautiful building and the organization which maintains it. Lowell is not a city of homes, but has a transient population and abounds in lodging houses and furnished rooms to which hundreds of young men and young women have recourse for abiding places.

A city, no matter how well governed it may be, holds out more or less temptation to the young woman without a home and unless her more fortunate sisters offer her good association, good recreation and a good environment generally, being only of frail human nature the time may come when she will yield to the temptations that beset her. Thus, an organization of this nature, composed of representative women who devote their time and energies to the moral, mental and social welfare of the young women of Lowell at large, is of inestimable value to the community and should receive the encouragement of all creeds and

The Hip Sash Will be Predominating Feature of Summer Frocks—Other Innovations to be Introduced

The orient this spring is the source of inspiration for builders of costumes. You may be oriental in any way you please and affect in your raiment the East Indian, the Chinese, the Japanese, the Mohammedan or the Egyptian, anything at all that is eastern, but woe betide you if you display in your clothes the slightest hint of the early Victorian, the Louis XV, or the colonial—in short, any effect that is western and artificial.

Natural eastern effects—in plainer diction, uncorrected figure lines (that, by the way, require the best kind of corset to bring about)—and swathing draperies are the ideal now, and the least suggestion of a nipped-in waist, a trim and tidy corseted figure, is hopelessly bourgeois.

The eastern effect begins with the loose draped figure lines and is further expressed in the magnificent materials, the metallic trimmings, the dragging foot draperies and the sashes that in the summer costume will be of paramount importance this year.

As George Elliot says about cheese,

the knees. Such an effect is gained with a sash of orange-colored moire silk.

Summer dresses of the new plumes of color combinations on white grounds. A charming model shown is made of plumetis crapes with designs in blue and black, with a touch of red.

A dark blue moire hip sash, with an embroidered ornament in red and blue, is the finish.

There is no good reason except a woman's—the bromide excuse—because—why sashes should in any way suggest veils, but by some occult mental process they do associate themselves to me at this moment, probably because the veils this spring are so charmingly becoming and, strange to say, not injurious to the eyes.

In the selection of a veil nine out of every ten women will take the opinion of a shopgirl as to its becomingness, or worse still, they will ask the obliging clerk to hold the veiling up to her face before a decision is reached. They never stop to think that veils that are charming against the faces of the prettiest clerks may tend to bring out every blemish on their own countenances.

On the other hand, a well chosen veil will often, often too prominent features or blue sharp outlines. The veil of this season, and it is a godsend to the woman who has forgotten her birthday. These fine mesh weaves come in grays and browns, as well as in the more usual black and white effects. For the woman who buys her veils carefully there is a snare in the brown and gray face coverings. The grayish taupe veil is apt to bring out the slightest tendency to sallowness in the skin, but veils of this color are very stylish even with black hats, and when becoming they afford a delightful change from the black and white variety. The finer and more inconspicuous these veils are the better, from a fashion viewpoint. Of the simple meshes, the hexagon, the hairline and the crinoline are the most becoming. Sometimes two of these meshes are combined with effective results, and when the chemise dot is used it is placed at wide intervals over the surface.

The lace veils are fascinating this year. The finer and more expensive princess lace and rose point lace veils are worn with dress hats, and the effect is in good taste, for there should be harmony between the hat and its chief accessory, the veil. The trig little tailored hat, on the contrary, should be completed by a most simple veil to fulfill its function of keeping the face in place and protecting the face from the signs of travel.

"Some cheeses are made of skimmed milk and some of new milk, and it's no matter what you call 'em, you can tell which is which by the look and the smell." The same theory holds good concerning the fashionable sash, which is a hip affair that few women except the initiated know anything about. This swathed drapery about the hips was introduced by a great Parisian dressmaker last August, but it was taken up only by the mondaine in Paris, who must have something different, and not at all by the majority of women on this side of the water. But that the hip sash has arrived this spring is a foregone conclusion, and, to use a ragtime quotation, by summer time "everybody will be doing it."

Yes, the fat and the thin, the rich and the poor, all alike will be swathed in hip sashes, but let me confidentially whisper in your ear that it is only the girl who has no hips to swathe who will wear the waist adornment with style. To be sure, in oriental countries this sash is used to accentuate curves which in the orient are thought to be desirable and even prayed for by the devout Moslem women. They classes. I doubt if any city in the commonwealth can boast of a more progressive and successful organization of young women, and I am confident that no similar organization can boast of a more beautiful or more complete home.

I have just come from the Green-halse school where it was my pleasure to address a most interesting gathering of the youth of our city whose minds are being carefully nurtured and developed through the influence of education; I now have the honor to stand before one of our city's greatest moral forces. I go hence to the board of trade to meet the public spirited citizens of Lowell who give freely of their knowledge and experience for the business welfare of the community, and I shall conclude the day as the guest of an organization, which aims to improve the social life of its members. Truly, the city of Lowell is to be congratulated on having such a variety of influences for good all working to make Lowell a better city and its citizens better men and women.

To Swim English Channel

Having successfully swum the treacherous currents of what is known as the Boston Light swim, Henry F. Sullivan of this city, who swims under the colors of the Catholic Young Men's League, seeks new waters to conquer. He will sail for Europe on May 15th for the purpose of perfecting himself in and about Dover for the English channel swim, which he will attempt during the summer. For the purpose of reducing the cost of going abroad to the smallest possible personal expense, his many friends will conduct a dance in Associate hall April 8, which will be prefaced with an interesting talk on swimming with incidental remarks regarding the conditions of the waters of the English channel, by Dr. Crockett, the physician who examines all swimmers attempting the Boston Light course, who has taken a kindly interest in Sullivan, since he performed the remarkable stunt of finishing the swim in the first attempt.

SCORE I.W.W. METHODS DOCTOR MUST PAY GIRL

Unions and Clergymen Denounce Them

PROVIDENCE, April 2.—The master tailors continued yesterday to resist the demands of the I. W. W. organization, which ordered a general strike here.

The demands are $10 a week for men tailors and $10 for girl finishers. There were also provisions for sanitary shops and for double pay for overtime.

The strikers found yesterday that many workers who disliked to risk the displeasure of agitators by reporting for work took refuge in their homes, and in one place the police drove strikers away from a house where the family was being bothered by a crowd.

Local labor union officials yesterday denounced the methods used to bring about the strike, and the executive committee of the Providence Central Federation of Unions will meet tomorrow and take decisive action.

Rev. Fr. Boyle, pastor of St. Anne's church, issued a statement in which he denounced the methods employed by the I. W. W. agitators and warned his people to avoid being the victims of this organization.

The police said last night 300 garment workers were reported to be coming here from Boston to awaken enthusiasm.

Herbert W. Gardner, master tailor at 146 Westminster street, said yesterday afternoon that there are approximately 300 garment workers on strike against approximately 400 yesterday.

The strikers claimed yesterday afternoon there were more than 400 out.

The next meeting of Middlesex North Pomona grange, No. 16, will be held Friday, April 4, in Odd Fellows hall, bridge street, Lowell. The morning session will be called to order at 10 a. m. The subject for discussion will be "Which is of Most Importance to the Farmer, Fertile Soil, or Good Business Methods?"

The afternoon meeting which is public will be called to order at 2 o'clock and will be a patriotic entertainment.

Dr. Wallace R. Davis, commander of leading Post 6, A. R., will be the principal speaker and will have on exhibition a large collection of old war relics.

Fred L. Roberts will sing and Mrs. Bell Harrington will read.

Past Master Alice B. Colburn of Dracut will read a paper on "Woman in the Civil War." Bro. A. J. Holes of Chelmsford will tell of personal experiences in the war.

A paper on "Remembrances of War Days," composed by Mrs. Hannah Buxton, an army nurse, 55 years of age and blind, will be read.

Mr. Williston Carl, bugler of Co. K will give the old army calls. All veterans are invited to be present.

In the evening the fifth degree will be conferred on a large class of candidates.

Dinner and supper will be served under the direction of Dracut grange. Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Peavey in charge.

For the Injuries She Received in Collision

BOSTON, April 2.—Isabelle C. Butler of Bourne will get the $3000 awarded her by a jury in Plymouth county, last May, for personal injuries received when a horse and carriage driven by Dr. Charles S. Gleason of Wareham collided with a vehicle in which the young woman was riding, and injured her for life, according to an opinion handed down by the full bench of the supreme court, yesterday.

The young woman, a school teacher, it had been testified, had signed away her rights for $500, on the statement of Dr. Gleason, who was attending her, who told her that she would get well in time for return to school for the full term.

The accident occurred on the evening of July 18, 1905. Miss Butler's left hip was badly injured. She was confined to her bed for nine weeks. She had to give up her position as school teacher. Her left leg is an inch shorter than the other as a result of the accident.

The opinion, written by Judge Braley, says in part:

"It was only after his positive assurance that she would be able to return to school, and in reliance upon it, that the agreement was perfected. A recovery to the extent assured did not follow and the course of events has since shown that the plaintiff is a serious cripple for life."

"The defendant maintained that the representation was merely an encouragement statement not intended as anything more than the expression of a hopeful expectation, which does not constitute actionable deceit. But the relation of a physician to his patient is necessarily one of trust and confidence, and commercial transactions between them when fraud or undue influence is charged, are viewed by the courts with some jealousy and are carefully scrutinized."

"The ultimate purpose of the defendant and the means used by him for its accomplishment were questions of fact. The jury were warranted upon the evidence in finding that the defendant made a statement to the plaintiff to induce the plaintiff to do an act which he wished to have done in order to avoid the payment of adequate compensation for the wrong which he had inflicted and that it was not intended as an honest expression of his belief or opinion as a physician."

SALEM, April 2.—Gaines' theatre at 273 Essex street was destroyed by fire last night. More than 1000 persons were crowded into the building at 10:05 p. m. and 15 minutes later Charles Kepler discovered smoke pouring out of windows in front of the building.

Chief Engineer Arnold sounded a general alarm. By 10:35 the flames had spread through the upper section of the Fellows block, the first floor being utilized as stores by W. N. Buck, milliner, and the Boston coffee house, Charles S. Bingham, proprietor. T. D. Dennault, barber, occupied a section of the second floor of the Fellows block. The main section of the theatre was located in the rear of the Fellows block.

At 10:55 employees of the light department cut out wires. This precaution was taken to prevent loss of life. Essex street between North and Washington streets, Crombie street and Barton square was crowded with thousands of spectators and it was with difficulty that the police were able to keep the crowd back. The firemen on ladders worked at great disadvantage.

The fire spread to the block occupied by George G. Fuller and the Lounge Furniture company. Help from Beverly, Peabody and Marblehead arrived at 11:15.

By 11:40 the fire was well under control. The loss to the several buildings burned or partially destroyed is estimated at $110,000, which are insured in part. The loss to contents in buildings is roughly estimated at $15,000.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS Held in Nebraska Cities and Towns

OMAHA, Neb., April 2.—Municipal elections were held yesterday in all Nebraska cities and towns aside from Omaha and Lincoln. Except in a few instances, political lines were not drawn, the chief issue being the question of saloon license. Not many notable changes were made, but in a few cases there were surprises. At Mt. Auburn, regarded a reliably "wet" town, the drys had a substantial majority and Mayor Church Howe, for many years in the diplomatic service in Great Britain and Canada was elected mayor.

BOSTON OPERA CO. STARS

It is now assured that Lowell is to have grand opera this season. Final arrangements have been made to include this city in the post-season tour of the Boston Opera company artists, and the engagement will take place Thursday evening, April 10, in the Lowell Opera house. This will undoubtedly be the biggest musical event of the year for it will not only furnish music lovers an opportunity of hearing a remarkable aggregation of grand opera stars, but the prices will be lower than have ever been charged even in the largest cities of the country for grand opera.

A glance at the program to be offered will show what a remarkable treat has been prepared for musical loving people. In addition to a list of operas, there will be more than half a dozen famous operas, there will be presented a complete act from two of the best known operas. The opera "Faust" in English is included in the repertoire of operatic acts, and these will be sung in costume. The versatility of the members of the company is evidenced by the diversity of languages used in presenting these operas. Faust will be sung in French, Rigoletto in Italian and Martha in English. The concert numbers will be sung in the language in which they are written. In the case of Rigoletto the same artists will sing it as have sung it at the Boston Opera House, Mme. Scotney and DeCourcy and Mlle. Ramella and Fornari.

Keith's Theatre

Keith's theatre has in prospect another highly successful week. The reason is evident in the quality of the show offered.

The new motion pictures are again to the fore and will hold the attention of all audiences. Particularly good is the laboratory scene from "Faust" and the aged doctor is tempted by the devil and sells his soul for one year, that he may sample youth. "The Telephone Girls," six very classy girls, in singing and dancing, and "The Tamer," a delightful little comedy, are the other sterling features of the bill. Good seats may be secured for all performances. The box office phone is 25.

The Playhouse

Of the many pleasant features of this week's presentation, "The Turning Point" is the most noteworthy. It is a play of the highest quality, and is a perfect transcript of life. Its characters are real people, whose troubles and joys are real as are their comedy and pathos, which invariably elicits laughter and tears.

Musterole—Quick Relief! No Blister!

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard, does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and the pain is gone!

Millions of people have adopted MUSTEROLE in place of the mustard plaster.

You will find it in large hospitals. Doctors and nurses use MUSTEROLE and recommend it to their patients.

They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chilblains, Frost-bites, Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

Dance of New Liners

Donald Brian and Mlle. Genes are classed as the most graceful man and woman on the American stage. How did they attain this much-sought quality you ask. Well, if you wish to be let in on the secret, ride out to the Dracut Grange hall tomorrow evening. There you will find graceful young men and women enjoying the semi-monthly dance of the New Liners and you will realize why Mlle. Genes and Mr. Brian are graceful.

DELIGHTED HIS AUDIENCE

Reverend Dr. Bradley of Worcester

TOLD OF THE AUTHOR OF "UNCLE
REMUS"

Lowell Congregational Club Admits
New Members—Bishop Bowman in Lowell

At the regular meeting of the Lowell Congregational club, held last night
in the First Congregational church,
Rev. Henry Stiles Bradley, D. D., of
Worcester spoke, his subject being "The Sayings of Uncle Remus." Dr. Bradley
is a native of the south and knew Joel
Chandler Harris, the creator of "Uncle
Remus" and a well known author.
Two were taken into membership at

last night's meeting. Miss MacTaggart
of Kirk Street church and Miss Bou-telle, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. The president appointed as a nominating committee, to report at the June meeting, Messrs. Walter H. Hoyt, Harold
A. Varnum and S. H. Thompson.

After a solo by Frank B. Murphy,
director of the First church choir, the
speaker of the evening was introduced
and delighted the audience for an hour
and twenty minutes.

At Evangelical Church
Bishop Thomas Bowman, D. D., of
Allentown, Pa., addressed the members of the Evangelical church, corner
of Mt. Vernon and Butterfield streets,
last night. There was a pleasing musical program carried out by the children's choir of the church. Rev. C. T.
Daly opened the services and spoke briefly.

Bishop Bowman will preside today at the New England conference of the Evangelical association in the First Evangelical church, Somerville. The conference which opens there today
will continue to April 5.

Women's Association
At the annual meeting of the Woman's association of the Kirk Street

Congregational church the report of
the nominating committee was presented and the following declared elected: President, Miss Maria Maok;
vice presidents, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs.
P. W. Qua and Miss Adelaide Ward;
secretary, Mrs. David W. Dewar; treasurer, Mrs. D. E. Yarnell.

Mr. C. A. Lincoln and Miss Jean MacTaggart gave short talks on the church work. The retiring president,
Mrs. A. K. Whitcomb, was presented a large bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Geo.
L. Richardson made the presentation
speech. Miss Eva Henderson sang several songs very effectively, being accompanied by Mrs. Frank K. Stevens.
At the close of the meeting, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess,
Mrs. Harris. Mrs. A. A. Robinson
poured and Mrs. Walter Murray, Mrs.
Victor Carey and Mrs. David Dewar
served.

Rev. Willard Scott

"The Enchantment of the Near Future" was the subject of an interesting and instructive lecture by Rev.
Willard Scott, D. D., of Brookline, before a large and appreciative audience
at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters last night. The lecture was the fourth of the Y. W. C. A. members' course of lectures. Rev. Dr. Scott is a well known after dinner speaker and humorist and he provided a very pleasant evening for his listeners.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of Dracut Water Supply District Was Held Last Evening With Large Attendance

The members of the Dracut water supply district held their annual meeting in Grange hall, Dracut Centre last night with a fair attendance. The regular officers of the district were
re-elected and the articles of the warrant were gone over in tip top shape.
George H. Stevens was chosen moderator after the meeting had been opened
by Peter Bolton, district clerk.

Article two of the warrant, relative
to the election of a clerk, was then taken up. Peter Bolton was unanimously re-elected.

Under article three, Christopher J.
Bucke was chosen auditor for the ensuing year.

The report of the water commissioner was taken up under article four.

Mr. Gallagher inquired if the $2000
borrowed last year in anticipation of
taxes had been paid as yet.

Treasurer D. D. Fox of the district
answered by stating that the loan had
not been paid.

Mr. Thissell spoke on the brevity of the report, and expressed himself as
feeling that the report should show
the various expenditures in itemized
form.

Supt. F. H. Gunther stated that he had the various expenditures itemized,
and was ready to read the same if necessary. The meeting, however,
did not require the reading of the account and voted to accept the report
as published by the commissioners.

Article five, the election of a water
commissioner for three years, required
a ballot. Nelson E. Huntley was opposed for re-election by William Keefe,
but won, 45 to 25.

Article six proposed raising $500 for construction work the coming year.

Mr. Gallagher immediately moved
that all articles involving the appropriating and expenditure of money be carried out by taking a check list vote.

Fred A. Bassett stated that, under article six, some information should be given as to what the money was required for.

District Superintendent Gunther
stated that the money was required
to meet the requirements under new
applications for water along the main line. Without making this provision, any new applications would have to lay over until money was raised for the purpose.

The previous motion to raise money
by a check list vote was rescinded,
and although not consistent, the
change in the minds of those present
served to save much time. The $500
appropriation was then voted.

Under article seven, the sum of $3000 was asked, to be borrowed in 1914 for the discharge of the annual payments on the water board, due
March 1, 1914.

There were several who asked for information as to why money had to
be borrowed, and why it was necessary at this time to make provision
for next year.

The information given was to the effect that the next annual meeting
was too late to provide payment on
the bonds. The bonds are due March 1, while the meeting does not take place until April. A check list vote was taken, resulting: Yes, 45, and
no, 5.

Article eight, "To borrow $3500 in anticipation of taxes," was voted yes,
32 to 15.

Article nine asked for a district vote
to install a new pumping plant and wells.

Article 11 called for an extension of the water main in the street from the residence of Mrs. Willoughby to the Henry Wheeler place. The article was dismissed.

Article 12, calling for $2160 to provide for the work under article 11,
was declared out of order by reason
of the previous action.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL

Favorably Reported by Committee on Counties

SLIGHT CHANGE IN WORKMEN'S
COMPENSATION LAW

Governor's Veto of Law School Bill
Sustained—Sharp Debate in the Senate

The committee on counties at the state house, yesterday, reported favorably on the bill for the establishment
of an agricultural school in Middlesex
county. Previous to taking the vote,
the committee had a conference with
Rep. William B. Billerica, who explained in detail the agricultural educational side of the county.

Workmen's Compensation
The judiciary committee bill, providing that under the workmen's compensation act relief shall begin on the 11th instead of the 15th day after the
injury, provoked a warm debate.

Albert of Boston moved an amendment that in case incapacity extends beyond 10 days compensation shall date from the day of the injury. He said the only argument that has been advanced for providing a waiting period before compensation shall begin is
to prevent fake cases.

Barnes of Mansfield opposed the amendment, stating that Germany has
tried out the system of allowing compensation to begin on the day after an accident, and the result has been that accidents in that country have doubled
and tripled. Employees have been accused of general malfeasance.

He said the industrial accident board
has stated that if any consequential
changes are made in the compensation
law it will simply give the insurance
companies a chance to put their rates
back to where they were before they were forced by competition to lower them.

The amendment was favored by Buckley of Brockton, Donoghue of Boston, J. J. Brennan of Boston, B. P.
Sullivan of Boston, Achin of Lowell
and Ellis of Newton. Cox of Boston closed debate against the amendment,
saying the committee reported a bill
which he believed would pass through all of the legislative stages, predicting
that no bill going any farther will pass
the senate.

He pointed out that the accident
board is opposed to the change, and
urged that the opinion of the men who
have done such good work in administering the law should be entitled to great weight. The amendment was adopted on a voice vote and the bill
sent to the senate.

Governor's Action Sustained
The senate yesterday killed the Suffolk law school bill, which Gov. Foss
had vetoed.

But before this decisive action was taken there was read on the floor of
the senate a letter from the governor
in which he gave the lie to Gleason L.
Archer of Woburn, dean of the law
school.

The governor wrote the letter to Senator Quincy of Holyoke, his personal representative on most party
matters on the senate floor who read it
after Senator Allen of Melrose had urged the passage of the bill over the governor's veto.

The veto was sustained after vigorous debate, 14 to 21, two-thirds present
and voting being necessary to pass the
bill over the veto.

Yesterday's action settled the matter for this year, unless an attempt
should be made in the senate today to reconsider, but that is not thought at
all likely.

In his letter the governor declared
that Dean Archer's story of their interview regarding the bill which sought

to give the school the right to incorporate and confer degrees, was incorrect at every point.

"The governor asserted that almost the last words of Dean Archer to him on the day of their first interview was an appeal to recall his veto. He said this is also the recollection of a man who was present during the interview.
The governor is understood to mean Daniel J. Kiley, who was in his private office at the time.

To Investigate Art Collection
CHICAGO, April 2.—Charges that the international exhibition of cubist and futurist pictures now being displayed here at the Art Institute contains many indecent canvases and pictures will be investigated at once by the legislature "white slave" commission.

Lieut. Governor O'Hara sent a representative to look over the pictures
after he had read many complaints about the character of the show.

"We are not condemning the international exhibition without an impartial investigation," said the lieutenant-governor today. "I have received many complaints that we owe it to the public that the subject be looked into thoroughly." The investigator reported that a number of the pictures were immoral and suggestive. Senators Woodward and Beall of the commission will visit the exhibition today.

CAUGHT BY THE FEET

Was Climbing Into Stable
Through Window

BOSTON, April 2.—Caught by the feet as he was climbing through a window of the stable of Lawrence H.
Sullivan at 35 Essex street, Charlestown, yesterday afternoon, Clarence E.
Fowler of 15 Essex street, Charlestown, was arrested by Patrolman Bert Webb of the City Square station on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

Fowler, the police allege, tore the screen off the window and started to climb in. His body had disappeared through the window, when Patrolman Webb, who was listing voters in the vicinity, turned the corner and, seeing the feet hanging over the sill, caught Fowler by the legs and pulled him out to the street. Fowler, who is 34 years of age, was arraigned in the Charlestown court this morning.

took off his left thumb and tore the ligaments of his wrist yesterday it left him with one finger on his left hand
and two on his right hand, all the other members having been amputated
by the same saw at intervals since last September. Since the first accident Haven has no more than got the

its victim. He says he will continue to run the mill with the fingers that he has left.

RACIAL CHARACTERISTICS

In speaking on Monday evening at the graduation exercises of the evening high school J. E. Burke, superintendent of the Boston schools, touched on some topics that are not often dwelt on by the public speaker. Take the following passage for example: "We have invited the world, and the world has generously responded. We have the world with us in these great cosmopolitan cities of ours. We want to be very careful that our regard for our fellow men is not prejudicial, is not circumstantial. We want the sympathetic relation that is a far-reaching. A little further on he elaborates this idea as follows: "I do not know but we sometimes make a mistake in these cosmopolitan cities, in our failure to recognize racial traits, racial characteristics, and racial peculiarities. I believe these should be recognized and cherished."

This message might be taken to heart advantageously by a city such as Lowell in which representatives of almost every race and every land congregate. That these people are among us proves that here they have found the ideals of liberty, freedom of conscience, and industrial opportunity which were denied them in one form or another in their own countries. They may not make a great impression on the people or events of today, but their children will be a large and important factor in the life of tomorrow. The degree of good exercised by them then will depend in a great measure on the treatment accorded to the parents now. It is to be expected that among foreigners will be found some conditions that do not always quite agree with our ideas. Most of them are poor at first and uneducated in our ways, and therefore are seriously hampered by conditions for which they are not responsible. If treated with kindness, consideration, and real Americanism, they will conform themselves to our customs and ideals and become desirable and valuable citizens. They will train their children to be good citizens and they will instruct them to look with love and reverence on the institutions and the flag which meant for them shelter and protection.

The statement of Mr. Burke that the peculiar racial characteristics of all peoples among us should be recognized is the view now held by some of the most eminent writers and scholars amongst us. Sometimes we may smile in a superior way at the evidence of the ignorance or naïveté simplicity among foreigners, but if we approach them with a sympathetic interest and an unbiased mind we can find in all peoples customs and characteristics that are linked with the oldest culture and learning of the world. In a Jewish household no matter how squalid and poor, one may find articles of rare beauty connected with their religious worship that link the present with the old Jewish dispensation, the laws of Moses, the thunders of Sinai. In their dances the little Italian children practice fantastic measures which may take us back to Claudius, Nero, and Caligula. The young lady settlement worker fresh from college who goes into the slums intending to perform wonders of enlightenment does not usually know that the meekest Italian peasant may have gazed at the wonders of Raphael or Michael Angelo, heard in the streets the songs that thrilled Palestrina or Verdi, or played in the robust strains that stand on earth. The Greek who chants dissonantly in a market street coffee house may be crooning of the glories of old wars or the cold splendors of the rose weathered marble temples of Thessaly and Thessaly. Truly we can teach all of these much, but there is much of the best, noblest and grandest that some of them can teach us if we put aside pride, prejudice and shallow superiority, and meet them on the fair ground of a common humanity.

Another very pertinent reason why the choice of Mr. Page is opportune is because, through his publication, he has always upheld the person and policies of the new president. Long before Woodrow Wilson was generally thought of as a presidential possibility, Mr. Page devoted much space to him and his work and so kept the country acquainted with the newer and more progressive spirit that was growing up in politics. Even before the president, as governor of New Jersey, had distinguished himself by his anti-trust laws, Mr. Page had been advocating policies such as we have now come to associate with President Wilson. Because of his earnestness and activity he was appointed to the country life commission during the administration of President Roosevelt, and distinguished himself by his close study of politics and literary activity, and can be depended on to carry out the ideals of the president with a feeling of confidence born of long acquaintance and mutual admiration.

The members of the Ohio legislature who are seeking to limit the depth of the casket, do away with diaphanous hose, and effect other dress reforms in the name of modesty, do not seem to understand the nature of the gentle sex. Although they cannot hope to reform these abuses by law, if they could prevail on some Parisian designer to declare such fashions either unbecoming or out of date, the effect would be magical and immediate. The new independence which woman is so fond of declaring has not yet been shown in matters of dress, although it cannot be that they do not consider the question of sartorial importance. Fashionable men may have them, humor them, marry them, but you certainly do not understand them.

AN AMERICAN MILITANT

Miss Zelle Emerson of Detroit, Michigan, who with Miss Pankhurst was sentenced to two months' imprisonment in Holloway jail for participating in a window smashing raid, is attracting considerable attention from the public at the present time. She has entered on a hunger strike and her mother, Mrs. Pankhurst, and other prominent suffragettes are now trying to secure her liberty by arousing American feeling in her behalf. They state that forcible feeding is illegal and therefore constitutes a ground for intervention by the American government on behalf of Miss Emerson. The English authorities are also being charged with discrimination against her because Miss Pankhurst was released a few weeks ago when she was so weak from the effects of the hunger strike that the government feared permanent injury to her health. If determination and devotion to the cause she has foolishly espoused were not motives for mercy, Miss Emerson deserves clemency for she has proved herself to be a militant of the militants. Mrs. Pankhurst in a London speech referred to her as a great heroine and told how the American while in jail had sprayed herself all over with hot water and then laid down at night uncovered, hoping by this means to catch pneumonia. It is not probable, however, that the hearts of many American women will swell with pride on reading this recital of the valor and strenuousness of Miss Emerson, although many may experience a feeling of pity. There seems to be quite enough women in England who are able to uphold the ends of liberty and outrage without American help, and our women are prouder of their representatives abroad who reflect credit on the women of this country by the exercise of dignity and those other qualities which are still called "womanly" in spite of the furious antics of a sadly misled few.

As for intervention by the American government on behalf of Miss Emerson such a proposal is preposterous. She is a girl of education and good family, and was quite old enough to realize the seriousness of her action and its penalty. She had seen what such conduct had brought on others, and yet she selected this course for her own. She could very well have thrown in her lot with the splendid body of distinguished women here who are working for equal suffrage with sincerity, dignity and perseverance, instead of joining the notorious militant band of which all sensible women are ashamed. If she now chooses to go on a hunger strike her suffering in consequence is voluntary and self-sought, and she deserves pity but little sympathy. She will probably realize before leaving Holloway jail that breaking windows to get the vote is poor policy, and that the American way is by far the better.

AMBASSADOR PAGE

The appointment of Walter H. Page, the editor of World's Work, as ambassador to the court of St. James will meet with general approval both here and abroad. His editorship of the Atlantic Monthly and other literary publications has given him a broad knowledge of the affairs of the world in general, and those workings of diplomacy, which are essential to an aspirant for the position. He is well fitted by training and character to fill the place made illustrious by the classical attainments of his predecessors. He also has the advantage of comparative youth, and as such is a better choice than would be the eminent Dr. Eliot. Besides his well known literary attainments he is a speaker of much polish and a diligent student of political affairs.

Another very pertinent reason why the choice of Mr. Page is opportune is because, through his publication, he has always upheld the person and policies of the new president. Long before Woodrow Wilson was generally thought of as a presidential possibility, Mr. Page devoted much space to him and his work and so kept the country acquainted with the newer and more progressive spirit that was growing up in politics. Even before the president, as governor of New Jersey, had distinguished himself by his anti-trust laws, Mr. Page had been advocating policies such as we have now come to associate with President Wilson. Because of his earnestness and activity he was appointed to the country life commission during the administration of President Roosevelt, and distinguished himself by his close study of politics and literary activity, and can be depended on to carry out the ideals of the president with a feeling of confidence born of long acquaintance and mutual admiration.

AT THE CLUB

It was the first meeting of the two friends, Bill and Joe, at their club for some time, for each had been busy with pressing business engagements. They had discussed in general topics connected with recent prominent events. Naturally the most absorbing topic was "Lowell Day." Bill was expressing his appreciation of the observation.

"The first time free transportation from the neighboring towns and cities was provided by the board of trade. This and the great bargains offered by the local stores, attracted many thousands to the city," said Bill.

"This I regard as but a beginning," replied Joe, "and next year Lowell Day will be more generally observed."

"Something of other, the Lowell people seem to interest themselves readily in events and projects that are for the good of the city by public spirited men; take for instance Lowell Day which was observed yesterday and today. The board of trade went to such trouble and expense to make a success. It certainly was a success for everybody that could lend any assistance. The merchants advertised special bargains in the stores and a great many took advantage of them. Then again, that parade of the fire apparatus was a grand spectacle. Why, do you know, I never knew there were so many engines and trucks and other apparatus in the city until I saw them all lined up in that procession, and I guess there were a great many others who did not realize the strength of the city's fighting force."

"Well, Bill," said Joe, "you can thank a good live board of trade for that demonstration and for many other big things that have taken place in the city. President Harrington and Secretary Murphy as well as the members of the executive committee and directors board, are energetic workers and quick to see an opportunity to bring advantage to the trade of the city and make it more attractive. If Lowell continues in the future to progress as she certainly has for the past three or four years, there will not be a more prosperous town in New England than our own Spindle Town."

Seen' and Heard

"As each man steps his foot on shore," wrote an adventurer of the period of the "Early Niners," "he seems to have entered a strange world in which he is under the influence of new impulses." And, as additional testimony to the extraordinary stimulating quality of the California gold rush, Childs Merwin tells this delightful tale:

A popular figure in the streets of San Francisco was a black pony, the property of a cowboy, who, for the most part of the day, saddled and bridled, in front of his master's office.

The pony's favorite diversion was to have his hoofs blacked and polished. Whenever a coin was placed between his lips, he would carry it over to a neighboring blacksmith, put first one foot and then the other on the foot rest, and after receiving a satisfactory "shine," walk gracefully back to his usual station.

Even the dumb animals felt that something was expected of them in California.—"Life of Brutus Hart."

Thanks. The man turned back. The preacher and his son walked on. After a few moments his son said, "Say, father, if you had put more into that box you would have got more out of it, wouldn't you?"—National Magazine.

A GOOD CITIZEN

No one has ever thought him great. His name is far from quite unknown. Almost unnoticed to the world. From youth to manhood he has been an unthinking friend to his country. To his unthinking friends he seems to be a very ordinary man. And yet he has a virtue rare—He always does the best he can.

He lives his life from day to day. Not seeking seldom getting, praise. He makes no great impression with his modest, unassuming ways. And yet he perfectly fulfills his part of Nature's mighty plan. Give him the credit he deserves. He always does the best he can.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Needless Bloodshed
Newburyport Herald: Cowardly Europe is certainly responsible for the continuation of needless bloodshed through the economic straits which the Turks resist and delay. But so long as the states are courageous enough to play the game out, regardless of the cost, the cost of delay, there are many who hope that the Tchataja lines will be pierced and that a Te Deum may yet be sung within the walls of St. Sophia.

New Naval Policy

North Adams Transcript: The new administration is reported to be against bureaucracy and soft snags in the navy, and will insist that the highest officers of the navy do their share of sea duty. It is demanded that they take some of the hardships as well as the honors of the service. This will be unpopular in certain quarters, but by the working part of the navy and the whole of the country it will be considered a very proper step.

Our Efficiency

Providence Tribune: Not immigration but the lack of educational opportunities in rural districts is chiefly responsible for the high rate of illiteracy in the United States, according to a bulletin by A. C. Johnston of the bureau of education. The rate of rural illiteracy is twice the urban rate, despite the fact that approximately three-fourths of the immigrants are in the cities. Still more significant is a comparison between children born in this country and foreign parents with those born of native parents. The illiteracy among native-born children of native parentage is lower than that among as great a percentage of the children of foreign parentage, says Mr. Johnston, "largely on account of the lack of opportunities for education in rural America."

Economy vs. Efficiency

Pall Mall Globe: Postmaster General Burleson has an opportunity of commending his administration to the public by improving the mail service which the country has long looked upon as a little better because of the policy that was observed of sacrificing the interests of the public in order that a record for economy might be made at the expense of efficiency.

Poor Rich Man

Foster's Democrat: Pitt the poor rich man. He cannot contribute to politics without publicity and now he is not wanted as an ambassador or special representative of his country. His main hope at present is as a professional philanthropist, and that means a lot of trouble for a very small bit of pleasure.

Spring Cleaning

New Bedford Times: With two members of the New York police force convicted, four making confessions, another pleading guilty and four more under indictment, Mayor Gaynor's estimate of the quality of officers in the department bids fair to be corrected.

Our "Language"

Dorchester Times: A Cleveland man, who is careful of his choice of words, noted that during the breakfast period in his home the other day his son and daughter misused the word elegant 12 times, awful 11 times, fierce four times and great twice. One wonders, casually, what manner of meal that family faces in the morning.

The Aliens

N. Y. Sun: With the execution of today of the two Aliens, father and son, the curtain goes down on a drama which to some will seem to have had its splendid as well as its sordid elements. For years the Alien family has been a legend in Carroll county, Virginia. They had terrified and bullied the district, they coined false money and used violent weapons. They laughed at the law and openly defied it. And for a time public sentiment accorded them at least a grudging sympathy.

Henry M. Flagler Ill

Railroad Magnate in a Critical Condition
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 2.—The condition of Henry M. Flagler, the railroad and southern hotel magnate, who recently suffered a painful fall at his home near here, was reported worse yesterday. Relatives and friends expressed considerable anxiety over his condition. Flagler is still at Oceanfront cottage.

Later last night Mr. Flagler's condition was believed by his friends to be critical. President J. R. Parrott and Vice-President J. E. Ingraham of the Florida East Coast railroad have been summoned here by telegrams dispatched yesterday afternoon. Both are expected to arrive within a few hours from St. Augustine.

CARBONOL

KEEPS THE HOME SWEET AND CLEAN

Send for Free Sample

CARBONOL is a powerful cleanser. If soap and water fail to clean anything to your satisfaction, add Carbonol to the water and see how quickly stains and grime vanish.

If you find a stain on the carpet that water will not remove, try a Carbonol solution and see it vanish.

If there is a contagious disease in the house, soap and water cleanliness will not be enough. Mix a little Carbonol in the water you use and it will destroy every germ it comes in contact with and purify the air.

Carbonol has many other uses.

DELIGHTED HIS AUDIENCE

Reverend Dr. Bradley of Worcester

TOLD OF THE AUTHOR OF "UNCLE
REMUS"

Lowell Congregational Club Admits
New Members—Bishop Bowman in
Lowell

At the regular meeting of the Lowell Congregational club, held last night
in the First Congregational church,
Rev. Henry Stiles Bradley, D. D., of
Worcester spoke, his subject being "The Sayings of Uncle Remus." Dr. Bradley
is a native of the south and knew Joel
Chandler Harris, the creator of "Uncle
Remus" and a well known author.
Two were taken into membership at

last night's meeting, Miss MacTaggart
of Kirk Street church and Miss Dou-
telle, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. The
president appointed as a nominating
committee, to report at the June meeting, Messrs. Walter H. Hoyt, Harold
A. Varum and S. H. Thompson.

After a solo by Frank B. Murphy,
director of the First church choir, the
speaker of the evening was introduced
and delighted the audience for an hour
and twenty minutes.

At Evangelical Church
Bishop Thomas Bowman, D. D., of
Allentown, Pa., addressed the members of the Evangelical church, corner
of Mt. Vernon and Butterfield streets,
last night. There was a pleasing musical program carried out by the children's choir of the church. Rev. C. T.
Doty opened the services and spoke
briefly.

Bishop Bowman will preside today at
the New England conference of the Evangelical association in the First Evangelical church, Somerville. The
conference which opens there today
will continue to April 6.

Women's Association
At the annual meeting of the Woman's association of the Kirk Street

Congregational church the report of
the nominating committee was presented and elected: President, Miss Maria Black;
vice presidents, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs.
F. W. Qua and Miss Adelaide Ward;
secretary, Mrs. David W. Dewar; treasurer, Mrs. D. E. Yarnell.

Mr. C. A. Lincoln and Miss Jean
MacTaggart gave short talks on the
church work. The retiring president,
Mrs. A. K. Whitcomb, was presented a
large bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Geo.
L. Richardson made the presentation
speech. Miss Eva Henderson sang several songs very effectively, being accompanied by Mrs. Frank K. Starnes.
At the close of the meeting, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess,
Mrs. Harrie. Mrs. A. A. Robinson
poured and Mrs. Walter Muzzey, Mrs.
Victor Carey and Mrs. David Dewar
served.

Rev. Willard Scott

"The Enchantment of the Near Future" was the subject of an interesting and instructive lecture by Rev.
Willard Scott, D. D., of Brookline, before a large and appreciative audience
at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters last night. The lecture was the fourth of the Y. W. C. A. members' course of lectures. Rev. Dr. Scott is a well known after dinner speaker and humorist and he provided a very pleasant
evening for his listeners.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of Braintree Water Supply District Was Held Last Evening With Large Attendance

The members of the Braintree water
supply district held their annual meeting in Grange hall, Braintree last night with a fair attendance. The
regular officers of the district were
re-elected and the articles of the warrant were gone over in tip top shape.
George H. Stevens was chosen moderator after the meeting had been opened
by Peter Bolton, district clerk.

Article two of the warrant, relative
to the election of a clerk, was then
taken up. Peter Bolton was unanimously re-elected.

Under article three, Christopher J.
Hurke was chosen auditor for the ensuing year.

The report of the water commissioner was taken up under article four.

Mr. Gallagher inquired if the $3000
borrowed last year in anticipation of
taxes had been paid as yet.

Treasurer D. D. Fox of the district
answered by stating that the loan had
not been paid.

Mr. Thibault spoke on the brevity of the report, and expressed himself as
feeling that the report should show
the various expenditures in itemized
form.

Supt. F. H. Gunther stated that he had the various expenditures itemized,
and was ready to read the same if
necessary. The meeting, however,
did not require the reading of the account and voted to accept the report
as published by the commissioners.

Article five, the election of a water
commissioner for three years, required
a ballot. Nelson E. Huntley was opposed for re-election by William Keefe,
but won, 45 to 23.

Article six, arranged raising $570 for construction work the coming year.

Mr. Gallagher immediately moved
that all articles involving the appropriating and expenditure of money be carried out by taking a check list vote.

Fred A. Bassett stated that, under article six, some information should be given to what the money was required for.

District Superintendent Gunther
stated that the money was required
to meet the requirements under new
applications for water along the main lines. Without making this provision, any new applications would be delayed over until money was raised for the purpose.

The previous motion to raise money
by a check list vote was rescinded,
and although not consistent, the
change in the minds of those present
served to save much time. The $500
appropriation was then voted.

Under article seven, the sum of $1500 was asked, to be borrowed in 1914 for the discharge of the annual payments on the water bond, due
March 1, 1914.

There were several who asked for
information as to why money had to
be borrowed, and why it was necessary at this time to make provision
for next year.

The information given was to the
effect that the next annual meeting
was too late to provide payment on
the bonds. The bonds are due March
1, while the meeting does not take place until April. A check list vote
was taken, resulting: Yes, 48, and
no, 5.

Article eight, "To borrow $2500 in anticipation of taxes," was voted yes,
32 to 15.

Article nine asked for a district vote
to install a new pumping plant and
wells.

Article 11 called for an extension of the water main in North street from the residence of Mrs. Willoughby to the Henry Wheeler place. This article was dismissed.

Article 12, calling for $2100 to provide for the work under article 11,
was declared out of order by reason
of the previous action.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL

Favorably Reported by Committee on Counties

SLIGHT CHANGE IN WORKMEN'S
COMPENSATION LAW

Governor's Veto of Law School Bill
Sustained—Sharp Debate in the Senate

The committee on counties at the
state house, yesterday, reported favor-
ably on the bill for the establishment
of an agricultural school in Middlesex
county. Previous to taking the vote,
the committee had a conference with
Rep. Williams of Billerica, who explained in detail the agricultural educational needs of the county.

Workmen's Compensation

The judiciary committee bill, providing that under the workmen's compensation act relief shall begin on the 11th instead of the 15th day after the
injury, provoked a warm debate.

Albert of Boston moved an amendment that in case incapacity extends
beyond 10 days compensation shall
date from the day of the injury. He said the only argument that has been
advanced for providing a waiting period before compensation shall begin is
to prevent fake cases.

Barnes of Mansfield opposed the
amendment, stating that Germany has
tried out the system of allowing compensation to begin on the day of an accident, and the result has been that accidents in that country have doubled
and tripled. Employees have been accused of feigning a disabling injury.

He said the industrial accident board
has stated that if any consequential
changes are made in the compensation
law it will simply give the insurance
companies a chance to put their rates
back to where they were before the law was passed by competition to lower
them.

The amendment was favored by Buckley of Brockton, Donoghue of Boston, J. J. Fennan of Boston, B. P.
Sullivan of Boston, Achin of Lowell
and Ellis of Newton. Cox of Boston
debated against the amendment,
saying the committee reported a bill
which it believed would pass through
all of the legislative stages, predicting
that no bill going any farther will pass
the senate.

He pointed out that the accident
board is opposed to the change, and
urged that the opinion of the men who
have done such good work in adminis-
tering the law should be entitled to
great weight. The amendment was adopted on a voice vote and the bill
sent to the senate.

Governor's Action Sustained

The senate yesterday killed the Suffolk law school bill, which Gov. Foss
had vetoed.

But before this decisive action was taken there was read on the floor of
the senate a letter from the governor
in which he gave the veto to Glenn L.
Archer of Woburn, dean of the law
school.

The governor wrote the letter to Senator Quinby of Holyoke, his personal representative on most party
matters in the senate floor who read it
after Senator Allen of Melrose had
urged the passage of the bill over the
governor's veto.

The veto was sustained after vigor-
ous debate, 14 to 21, two-thirds present
and voting being necessary to pass the
bill over the veto.

Yesterday's action settled the matter for this year, unless an attempt
should be made in the senate today to reconsider, but that is not thought at
all likely.

In his letter the governor declared
that Dean Archer's story of their interview regarding the bill, which sought

THE BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

GEORGE M. HARRIGAN,
President Board of TradeJOHN H. MURPHY, SecretaryLarge Gathering Heard Addresses
by Messrs. McNary and Sullivan—Ladies Present

The annual banquet of the Lowell board of trade was held last night at a closing observance of Lowell day. The festivities were carried on at Asolo hall and were largely attended, over 200 men taking seats around the festive board. A feature with this year's event was that the women were admitted as special guests, the gallery having been reserved for them. Over 60 of the fair sex responded to the invitation and it was with great interest that they listened to the speeches which were delivered by Mayor George M. O'Donnell, Hon. John A. Sullivan, chairman of the finance commission of Boston, and Hon. William S. McNary, a director of the port of Boston, and a member of the harbor and lands commission. President George M. Harrigan of the board also delivered a brief address of welcome, and a delightful concert was rendered by the "Colonial" orchestra, while Chick Fox and Stanley Nichols, both of Boston, provided great fun for the large attendance, the former with catchy negro melodies, and the latter with witty stories.

At 8 o'clock the guests assembled in the hall and for a half hour a reception was held, many handshakes being exchanged. A large committee was on hand and they made things very agreeable for all members of the board, who were introduced to the speakers and guests of the evening. At 8:30 all assembled at the festive board and enjoyed an elaborate menu. In the meantime the lady guests in the gallery were served with delicious ice cream, cake and coffee. Divine blessing was invoked by Rev. Dr. D. J. Kelcher, pastor of St. Peter's church.

At the close of the dinner President George M. Harrigan called to order and asked that at least be given to the health of the ladies present and immediately all men stood and lifted their glasses to the members of the fair sex. Mr. Harrigan then made a few remarks, thanking the large attendance for their presence and he referred to Lowell day, the parade of the fire department which was held in the afternoon, and also paid a tribute to the chief Harmer, whom he said for the past 50 years has been instructing the members of the department in a very creditable manner. He introduced as the first speaker, Hon. James E. O'Donnell, mayor of the city, who said:

Mayor O'Donnell's Address
Mr. Toastmaster, Honored Guests and Members of the Board of Trade:

The city of Lowell has reason to be proud of its board of trade and every citizen should see to it that he is enrolled in its membership. It is an organization of substantial business and professional men, citizens and taxpayers, who find the time and have the inclination to lay aside personal interests, temporarily, to give a share of their intelligence, knowledge and experience for the welfare of the community at large.

One of the greatest achievements of the board of trade within recent years, has been the bringing about of a radical change in our system of municipal government by the adoption of the so-called commission form, which after an experimental period of fifteen months is generally declared to be a great improvement over the abandoned system.

The great responsibility of starting a new governmental machinery was entrusted to a mayor and four commissioners, all of whom are still in office. It has been the aim and purpose of the majority of the commissioners at all times, to do their best, to bring about the greatest good to the greatest number, and if one will take the time to investigate properly I believe that he will find that the majority have done their duty as they saw it, and have accomplished in many cases the advantages which the promoters of the new charter claimed for it.

But it must be admitted that these men have been surprised and disappointed at the criticism and fault-finding directed at them, at times, by the press and individual citizens. Men expect criticism based on knowledge and experience, but I can state, as one who knows, that but little of the criticism of the present government has been based on actual knowledge of ex-

ments, the municipal council has given first consideration to streets and highways. Good streets are among the best assets of a municipality. They give the city a good name abroad; they increase the value of city property and, finally, they are built by local labor and the thousands of dollars spent upon them are circulated among the local business places and in all cases remain at home.

It is the purpose of the present city government to give considerable attention to the matter of streets and highways, for the money thus spent is honestly and well spent.

Another public question of growing importance which the present government will take up is that of playgrounds and recreation parks. The working people demand something more than commercialized recreation. Those who have made a study of social problems are of the opinion that the present spirit of unrest among the working classes is not due to industrial excess alone, but from a deep-seated desire for a satisfying use of their leisure hours. The city of Lowell has been given the nucleus of a magnificent playground by the late Freeman Ballard Shedd. A large amount of money will be required to develop it, and I shall favor an annual expenditure for its improvement. On the lower side of Fort Hill park is an athletic field and baseball diamond which is not well equipped, but which should be without delay. From the field, the hill rises to a great height, forming a natural terrace upon which a gathering of ten thousand people could assemble without crowding. I am informed that this addition to our playground system can be completed at a comparatively small cost, and it is my intention to bring about its completion. West of the field is a vacant lot of a public playground, as is the Highland district, but I believe that we should proceed with the development of those already underway at the present time, and consider the new propositions at the earliest opportunity.

Speaking for a majority of the members of the municipal council, I ask the assistance and counsel of the board of trade. We have the honor to propose before you, the welfare of our beloved city, and by co-operation our work will be much more effective, I think you.

Hon. John A. Sullivan

The next speaker was Hon. John A. Sullivan, chairman of the Boston finance commission, and a former congressman, who spoke on "The Initiative and the Referendum." In the course of his remarks the speaker referred to the laws of the state of Oregon, and also exhibited a specimen ballot of the election of 1910, which contained over 150 names of candidates for about 40 positions, and besides 22 articles of various nature. His remarks were listened to with great interest as he compared the laws of Massachusetts which are made by legislators, and the laws of Oregon which are made by the people.

His remarks were as follows: "When the United States government was established many citizens of this country and Europe maintained that a republican form of government could not endure. They pointed out failures in similar forms of government and were sure the new government would not remain practically as it is. That prophecy has not been borne out by facts. The country has made steady progress from the time of its origin. During its development many attempts have been made to bring about changes in methods of administration, but the foundation of our government has remained practically as it was. Perhaps the most serious of recent proposed changes has been that which provides for the initiative and the referendum, or in other words, which provides for more direct control by the people. The argument has been in this connection that the efficiency of public servants will be increased."

"People have come to be very sensitive over matters which were once considered a matter of legislative routine and the greatest good to the greatest number. For example a bill was introduced to page eight."

John V. Myers, Associate, tonight.

TORTURING
ECZEMA SINCE CHILDHOOD

(Itching Too Terrible to Describe Perfectly Cured by Resinol)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12, 1913.—"Since early childhood I have suffered untold misery with that terrible torture, eczema, on the backs of my hands and fingers. I have spent hundreds of dollars on treatments and consultations and bought every known remedy, but could not be cured. My hands would crack open, oftentimes showing the ligaments, and the skin would stick to the inside of my gloves."

Gave Up All Hope of Cure

"The itching was too terrible to describe and sleep was possible only when in an exhausted condition. This winter I had given up all hope of ever finding a cure, when I heard of Resinol and purchased some. The result was perfect. My hands were cured in three days of Resinol Ointment, with Resinol Soap, and my hands are perfectly cured. I cannot find words strong enough to praise Resinol and what it has done for me. I wish everyone needing relief from that stubborn and torturing affliction would give Resinol a trial. I can be called to answer any inquiries." (Signed) Mrs. Harry C. Jarboe, 621 E. St. N. W. You can try Resinol free, for skin eruptions, pimples, dandruff, stubborn sores, boils or piles. Sold by every druggist, but for trial write to Dept. 23-F, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Stevens, who was called Miss Anna Duffy previous to her marriage, was a native of East Chelmsford, and a sister of Mrs. George Taylor, who formerly resided in this city and Dracut, to taking up her residence in Lowell. Besides her husband and six children, she has a son, who is now a year, leaves behind one brother who resides in the flooded district of Ohio, another in East Chelmsford, Mass., and several others. There are also a number of relatives on her husband's side.

GRAVES—Mrs. Melissa Graves, wife of George R. Graves, died yesterday at her home, 652 Pleasant street, Dracut, at the age of 69 years, seven months and 29 days. Mrs. Graves was born in Leighton, Me., and had been a resident of this city and Dracut for the past 32 years. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Leroy M. Turner, two sisters and two brothers. Mrs. Graves was a member of the Ladies' circle No. 8, Post 135, G. A. R.

PEARSON—Mrs. Christina Pearson, a well known resident of this city, died early this morning at her home, 16 Andrews street, at the age of 59 years, 10 months and 22 days. Mrs. Pearson was born in Sweden, and had been a resident of this city for the past 25 years. She is survived by one daughter, Jennie, three sons, John, Charles and Fred Pearson; two grandchildren, also two sisters, and four brothers. Mrs. Pearson was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church.

OGLEY—Mrs. Susan Ogley, widow of Samuel Ogley, aged 51 years, 10 months, 16 days, died this morning at her home, 10 North Billerica street, for the past 21 years, died today at her home in North Billerica. She was born in Galesburg, Yorkshire, England, and was a prominent member of the First Primitive Methodist church, Gorham street. She leaves seven daughters, Mrs. James Elwood, Mrs. John W. Paton and Miss Ada M. Ogley of North Billerica; Mrs. Thomas Forrest of North Andover; Mrs. Jesse Whitworth, Mrs. Samuel Lewis, Mrs. Richard W. Paton of this city; Samuel A. Ogley of Providence, R. I., and nine grandchildren; besides two brothers and one sister in England.

A large apartment owned by the Lowell Gas Light Company, situated at the corner of Merrimack and Dutton streets was blown down by the wind this morning, causing several persons who were in the vicinity at the time narrowly escaped serious injury.

SINCERE STATEMENT FROM RELIABLE CITIZEN

Your window display in the store of Mr. E. J. Sweeney here, reminded me that my family owed a debt of gratitude to your wonderful preparation for kidney trouble.

A few years ago my wife suffered from a general breakdown in health. She was troubled continually with backache and suffered severely from nervousness and loss of appetite. We tried several preparations and had the services of different physicians, but she could not obtain any permanent relief from their treatment.

At the time I was connected with the drug business and had heard so many people speak highly of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, that I resolved to try it. My wife had only been taking it a short time when she felt much improved. We continued its use for some time until she felt entirely well and was a hundred per cent better in every way.

Since that time she has had no return of the trouble. We always keep Swamp-Root in the house and find it a wonderful tonic, as well as a great kidney medicine.

We want to thank you sincerely for the benefit derived from its use and shall never hesitate to recommend it to our friends. Yours very truly,

W. S. FRY.

QUIT CALOMEL!

Thousands are Turning From This Dangerous Drug

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Olive Tablets for the Liver

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver tonic in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after-effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers. His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablet.

The results of 11 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets. Olive Tablets, as they call the bonnets, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about the exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities. 10c and 25c per box.

Manager Gray has sent out his transportation expenses to the various members of the 1913 baseball team. The pilot of the Lowell team, who graphed his last money order yesterday, the recipient being Miller. The entire team will report the 12th, 13th and 14th of the month as originally planned, and will put in their early pre-season practice at Rockingham park if the new park is not completed by that date. Manager Gray is very particular about giving the ball players all the comforts and necessities that they should have and will not put his men to work unless there are shower baths within easy reach of the grounds. A hard workout without a hot bath after is one of the worst things that an athlete can do, especially a ball player getting himself into shape.

The baseball club rooms in the Hildreth building are having a thorough renovation this week. In preparation for the arrival of the team the management is having the rooms repainted and the ceiling kalsomined. The work is being carried on by John H. Cull who allows that even the duds on the team will have no fault to find with the office where the blue envelopes are made up and sealed.

The Baltimore papers say that Billy Rose of Everett is making a great bid for a berth with the Orioles. Rose, who is a native of the Canadian league, has a right name is Rosenthal and he is a left-handed pitcher. The first high school game he pitched for Everett high school was out by a 10 to 2 score and he pitched for the Orioles in the 1912 season.

Rough Duffy's Portland team will play the Providence Grays in an ante-season game according to the announcement made by Business Manager, E. J. Farnham of the Rhode Island club. The game will be played at Rocky Point on Sunday, April 13th or at Providence on the following Monday.

Manager Pieper of the Lawrence team is working hard these days in an endeavor to have Riverside park in shape for the opening of the season on April 20. For the past ten days a gang of laborers has been at work putting down on the field and filling up the holes that characterized the Lawrence park last year. The footing was so bad last season that a speedy man had practically no advantage over a slower man and the idea of making a fairer contest for the diamond at least meets with great appreciation around the circuit.

The Brockton club has at last come to life with some announcements of players signed. President John W. McGraw has published the fact that he has signed Frank Nimmo (not Nemo) who was with Newark, N. J., last year. Nimmo is a third baseman and is recommended by Jack Killebrew, M. Barry, a catcher from Quincy, Louis Palmer, a catcher from Everett, and Henry Grossette, a first baseman from Cambridge. They have all been ordered to report to the Brockton club. There are also several local semi-pro players that the management expects to get.

Treasurer Daniel A. Neenan, of the club, has overheard the fact that one of his visits to the metropolis is to see President Frank Farrell of the New York Americans about some of the players that he will drop with the start of the season. Lawrence is most in need of a pitcher and a first sacker and both will be procured from the Yankees if it is possible. Both Hoff and Barry are the two most wanted by the down river club.

Manager Gray has received the signed contract of Pitcher Borras, about whom there was some doubt as to his being willing to sign with Lowell. He has come through with the signed articles, however, and cannot break loose now unless he wants to be classified as an outlaw. It is hardly reasonable to suppose that he would even consider this for an instant so that we can reasonably say that Borras will wear a Lowell uniform during the 1913 season.

Ex-Congressman Butler Ames has notified the Lowell baseball management that he will present the local club with a large silk American flag to be placed on the staff at the new park. As Bert Fitzgerald says, "All dressed up, everything new."

"Spider" Kelley is the man who is pushing the proposed boxing bill in the New Jersey legislature which, if passed, will legalize boxing in the state. Kelley is boxing instructor at Princeton university and at several of the prep schools around Princeton as well. The old time fighter has made the game mighty popular down that way more by reason of his own interpretation of athletic training than anything else. The "Spider" never took a hit in his life and used to knock two abominable he is always a gentleman. It is said that since he has taken hold of the playground work at Trenton, N. J., that he has kept the youngsters busy with the gloves that they have had no chance to get into mischief and that the juvenile court is merely a name today. Kelley was one of President Wilson's personal escort to Washington.

The Lawrence management expects great things of Christy, the "new" shortstop that Pieper has signed up. Christy has played with several semi-pro teams and has earned quite a name for himself as a speedy boy. Last year in the city league he batted for .400 and held his position for an average of .325. If he can duplicate these figures with Lawrence his stay in the New England circuit will be of short duration.

The new grand stand at Portland will seat 1500 people and the bleachers 5000 more. Duffy has certainly got the baseball fever going in the Maine town and if he can only fill all the seats at each game his venture into New England ball will prove a big financial success. Several of the Portland aldermen held out very strenuously for stands that would seat 5000, but the "city fathers" have been too crazy what can you expect from the rest of the populace?

Jack Cameron, the former Lowell pitcher, has been signed to play ball for the Portland team. Cameron was back in the fall of 1907, after finishing the baseball season with the local club, Jack got out of a football suit and played one of the half backs for the M. C. I. eleven. During the football season Cameron broke his pitching arm and it has bothered him ever since. His record in the New England leagues was a direct result from his football injury.

HOME OF MARATHONERS

Hamilton, Ont., Produces
Another One

Hamilton, Ontario, the home town of Tom Longboat, Jack Coffey, Billy Sherring and other world-beating marathoners in their day, will be represented in the Boston Marathon race next month by another Hamiltonian who is rated as one of the fastest distance runners in the world. This latest "phenom" from the Ontario city is one Jim Duffy, who started Canadian athletic followers last October by setting up a new record for the famous Hamilton Herald classic, a jaunt of close to twenty miles, in a fraction over one hour and forty-five minutes. Duffy, this year and you will realize what a wonderful runner the Hamilton youngster is.

If you remember, the record for the twenty-five mile Boston Marathon established last year by Mike Ryan of the Irish American A. C. was about two hours and 25 minutes. Duffy ran 20 miles in 1:45, figure that out for yourself what would be his time for 25 miles. Even if he cantered the last five miles in 30 minutes he would cover the regulation Marathon distance in 2:15. Duffy's record run in the Hamilton race was over four minutes faster than the best time which Longboat ever made over that course and that his time was absolutely correct is certified by the Canadian A. A. C. which has accepted the record as thoroughly bonafide. Should the young Hamiltonian keep his present form and be in prime shape for the Boston race, it looks as if DeMar Saxalexis and the other American cracks will sweat some before they breast the worsted in front of the feet little Canadian.

roduced into the legislature some time ago which gave the power to the state tax commissioner of removing inefficient assessors in the city of Boston. Immediately the argument was advanced that this destroyed the home rule theory and then came the reply that it did not deprive the city of Boston of the right of appointment but made it possible to correct a bad condition which might exist. By passage of this bill, it was contended that the state was merely coming to the assistance of a city by stepping in against an incompetent official.

"Arguments for pure democracy are that while the people may make mistakes, they did not always make them, and that their mistakes are insignificant as compared with the deliberate mistakes made by their representatives. Against this proposition comes the argument that government is so complex it requires trained minds to produce the necessary and wise legislation for the people.

"There is increasing agitation to make the initiative and referendum throughout the country, the instrument of the people. The state of Oregon has adopted the most advanced method of government along these lines and while it is perhaps too early to determine the merit of such government as a general proposition, already there are weaknesses which strike me as being glaring and unfortunate for the people of any state.

"If we as think our own primary law has been a failure, then it has given itself a monopoly of the field and has excluded all practical opportunity to draft men prominent in their business or profession; that it has resulted in the discussion of personalities instead of party principles and has destroyed party authority and discipline. Also the belief has prevailed that at its best our own primary law has not been as effective as the old convention system.

"Oregon has a primary law with

JEFF TESREAU TO BE GIANTS'
MAINSTAY IN BOX THIS SEASONTESREAU
PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, April 2.—Pitcher Jeff Tesreau will undoubtedly be the Giants' mainstay in the box this season. Manager Johnny McGraw says his giant heater is in excellent condition and ready to start the campaign in midseason form. For weeks Coach Robinson has had the big fellow in charge and claims the Ozark wonder will be the sensation of the National league circuit this year. Robinson says that the experience Jeff gained last season will be of great benefit this year. A sample of what he will do to his opponents this season was given in the game with the New Orleans team recently, the first that the New Yorkers have played in New Orleans in several years. In the six innings that the big fellow worked on the mound he yielded but two hits, one of them coming in the first and the other in the sixth, the inning that they scored the only two runs made off him.

provision for the direct elections of United States senators. There are many who believe that the election of United States senators is of doubtful benefit to say the least; that its effect will be to make the senate no longer a conservative body as intended by the framers of our constitution, that it will no longer be a check upon the house of representatives, as the members of both bodies will be elected by popular vote, and that a deterioration in the senate is already discernible as the result of the nominations by popular vote in southern and western states.

"Oregon has a provision which gives the sole power to amend their charters a most absurd proposition. For it means that the right of the state to amend bad charters has been surrendered, and recognized as the right of any municipality to have as bad a government as it desires. Our theory has been that this is a commonwealth consisting of the people collectively, with the state supreme. What would we say, for instance, if we found local boards of health conducting themselves against the recognized policy of state boards of health?

"The recall power as applied to public officials, including the judiciary, is worthy of consideration. In some cases it may work well, in others it may be an effective instrument of blackmail. As applied to judges it must have a direct tendency to make them take into account public sentiment and prejudices and to render decisions, which will be popular at the expense of justice. A judge who is nominated and elected by the people and who may be recalled at any time when his decisions run counter to the popular desire, is likely to be timid, feeble and time serving, quite the opposite to the courageous and impartial judge of our own state.

"The bill permitting voters in direct primaries to express choice for president and vice president, to select delegates to the national convention, and to nominate candidates for presidential electors, I do not approve of, for the result will be to bind the delegates to the people's choice, and to render them impervious to the spirit of reason in the national convention.

This showing by the advocates of the new system must fail to convince thinking men in Massachusetts that the initiative and referendum have been so clearly justified by their results in Oregon as to warrant us in making a similar experiment.

"The opponents of the system in Oregon believe that it has proved a dismal failure and the facts are, in fact, quite as strong as those presented by the supporters of the new system. We all believe in progress, but we insist on stability of government, and we ask that you hold fast to that which has been proven good before you make a change."

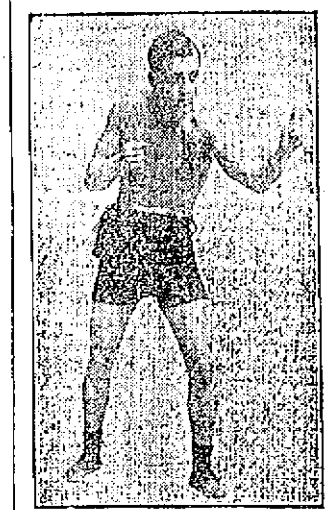

"It has been charged repeatedly," said Mr. Sullivan, "that legislators are corrupt and that the courts are opposed to anything that tends to relieve the people. Yes, legislators are corrupt, some of them—but in my experience as a member of two of them I state that their members constitute a very small minority of those in crooked life. It is a libel to make the Gallant impressively. Gallant has a world-wide reputation of being a hard hitter. His match with Young McDonough at Manchester recently when the Chelsea boxer was credited with having a slight shade the best of the contest would indicate that he is traveling at his best right now. Gallant has left nothing undone that would help his condition and as a consequence he will appear in the ring in better boxing form than he has for a long time.

In addition to the strong semi-final bout between Young Cooper of Boston and Young Morgan of Manchester a brace of matches between local talent in which there is much interest, have been arranged bringing the card of boxing up to 32 rounds of milling.

NEW TREATMENT—HEAT,
OIL AND ANODYNE

Home Treatment Similar to Hot Spring.

H. P. PAGE,
184 Union St., Lynn, Mass.

Difficult rheumatism was a secret case of long standing—formula of oil and anodyne—treatment applied by Mr. Page for a year and a half. Further information, discovered by Mr. Herson, H. P. Page now makes this treatment from his mother's secret formula, and the long leading drug stores at 25c and 50c. It is the only oil and anodyne on the market that can be applied by the heat method.

oil is very simple and fully explained on each bottle of the liniment.

"The effect is similar to that of the famous Hot Springs treatment for rheumatism only it is very simple, inexpensive and can be applied by anyone at home."

In the city of Lynn where this discovery originated it has been made famous by people who have received its wonderful benefits.

Below are published two testimonials given by people gratefully acknowledging their cure through the use of Page's Oil Liniment applied by the heat method.

Hospital Case
"I can most heartily recommend Page's Oil Liniment as a wonderful remedy for rheumatism. I have been laid up with inflammatory rheumatism in the leg and hip since September. Have tried all kinds of treatment without any benefit. After using Page's Oil Liniment for one week I had a good night's sleep and now I can walk without any pain." William Hallisey, 217 Summer St., Lynn, Mass.

Rheumatism in Feet
"I have great praise for Page's Liniment. I am a man 57 years of age and have been suffering from rheumatism in my feet trying to relieve my chronic rheumatism. I was advised by a friend to try Page's Oil Liniment. I followed directions closely and used two bottles and now I can prove it is a great cure." Francis J. Fell, 63 Green St., Lynn, Mass.

Page's Oil Liniment used by the heat method is the master of pain of all kinds in all parts of the body. Being a new discovery only the live and most up-to-date dealers have it for sale. It costs only 25c and 50c per bottle.

The Y. M. C. A. allers were the scene of a double header in their bowling league last night. Team One defeated Team Six and Team Eight were the winners in their match with Team Five. Langevin was high man with a total of 282.

The Harney league had a big session among their teams last night, three games being rolled off. St. Paul Methodist won from the Immanuel Baptist team, the Calvary Baptist took their game from the Primitive Methodist and the Calvary Baptists also hung the sign on the Immanuel Baptist team. The total of Kennedy, Calvary Baptist, was the highest three string score, although S. Willis, Primitive Methodist, was a close second with 309. Kennedy's total was 211.

The Helene Electric-U. S. Cartridge league also staged two games. The Live Wires swamped the Magnetos in their match by over a hundred pins while the Helene Machines won their game from the Ajax rollers by a single pin in the most closely contested game of the entire evening. Coughlin of the Live Wires was high in this league with a mark of 297 for his thirty boxes.

The Knitters ran away from the Lawrence Loopers in their match last night, taking all three strings and the totals by the score of 1220 to 1210.

The summaries of the various games are as follows:

LOSE N. E. LEAGUE CLUB

Haverhill Team to be Transferred

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 2.—The Haverhill team of New England league is to leave the city and seek a home elsewhere. This information was received from the management, Dan Ciochey and Sherman H. Kendall. They would like to transfer the team to Worcester, where they are free of expense to the management.

Despite these assurances from Salem and Fall River, Manchester is regarded as the best prospect and Mr. Ciochey says he wants to take the team here and will do so if satisfactory arrangements are promised.

Make 'Em Hit
"For two years I have been trying to coach the Detroit pitchers to pitch to the batters and make them hit," says Hughie Jennings, "but they never seem willing to do that."

"If the pitcher would remember that there are four infielders, three outfielders, a catcher and a pitcher on the mound, all paid to field batted balls, and be willing to play nine men against one batsman, we would win more games. The trouble is that the pitchers today are trying to keep the batter from hitting the ball instead of making him hit as long as a pitcher makes the batter 'hit' out where they are you can count on winning ball games. The pitcher who keeps working himself into a hole is the fellow who is under a handicap. If he would try to keep him from touching the ball he would not be in the hole."

George H. Goddard, a local distance performer, will be one of the entrants in the B. A. A. Marathon from Ashland to Boston on the 19th of this month. Goddard is training hard for the event and most any night he can be seen taking a jaunt to one of the surrounding towns in order to increase his standing up powers. This boy ran over twenty miles of the distance in last year's race and considers that the experience which he received in the race will stand him in good stead in this year's contest. Goddard will also be a starter in the Cathedral ten mile cross country run which will be held in Boston over the usual route. These two events are two of the classics that New England athletes have a chance to see and a place winner in either event must be one of the top notchers. Goddard is running under the colors of the Pony A. C., a Centralville organization.

GEORGE H. GODDARD

Mathewson being in a hole. Christy tries to make the batter hit the ball where the fielders can get it. I have seen Mathewson in three big series—the New York city series in 1910 and the last two world series. In these three series Mathewson, doing the ball of the pitching for the Giants, gave good boxes on balls and three of the were strategy walks, which practically makes his total passes in three big series just five in 10 games. He did not hit a batter in either of the series.

Red Sox vs. Illinois University
BREAUX, Ill., April 2.—The ball game scheduled today between the Boston American league team and the university of Illinois recalls a game here 12 years ago in which Jake Stahl, now the Boston manager played in the outfield for Illinois against the university of Michigan. According to a non-made by "Deacon" Briggs, official scorer, on the margin of the scorebook still in his possession, Stahl's notable fielding" was responsible for the loss of the game. One week later, however, in a game against Indiana university Stahl made amends for his errors in the Michigan contest. This time he was behind the bat and in addition to catching a perfect game he made two home runs, a double and two singles out of seven times at bat.

quarters in Great hall this evening. Matters of great importance are to be decided before the meeting, and all are requested to be present.

The Antebellum club held its regular meeting Sunday evening at the home of Miss Laura Gales in Fulton street and the members were highly entertained by their hostess. A social hour was enjoyed and followed by a varied musical program. Refreshments were served during the evening. The guests left at a seasonable hour wishing their hostess many returns of the day.

The trustees of the First Baptist church in Nashua have notified the city authorities that they will sue for damages should the church suffer from fire through obstruction of a building that is being moved on the street. A house is being moved across the lot and over the street near the church.

Among the out of town relatives who attended the funeral of Miss Zella L. Bailey which took place yesterday were the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Quessy and Mr. and Mrs. Peter McGlinchey of West Chelmsford; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Quessy of Somerville; Ernest and Angeline Gervais of Melrose; Conna, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Quessy of Fitchburg; and Mrs. C. Quessy of Fitchburg.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at the Church of St. Patrick, Nashua, for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. Mary Miller McGlinchey. Mrs. McGlinchey died during Holy Week and her funeral took place Holy Saturday. On that day no funeral mass is celebrated. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives present. There was a large number of Lowell people in the congregation.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS

Attending Missions at Local Churches

The missions, which are now taking place at St. Patrick's church, are the most highly attended events of their kind that have ever been held by the Catholic parishes of the city. Each service attracts a large congregation.

At St. Patrick's last night, Rev. Fr. Condon, S. J., preached a forceful and eloquent sermon, taking for his topic "Hell and the eternal punishment as set forth by Christ." Another sermon, of similar lines, was preached in the lower church by another of the four missionaries. Both the upper and

ILL FITTING TOOTH FELL IN ICE CREAM

AN ACTUAL OCCURRENCE IN WESTERN METROPOLIS

Caused so Much Embarrassment That Fiancee Broke Engagement and Thereby Hangs a Tale

When you stop to think that two feckless men were seriously responsible for the insurrection on the Mexican border, involving a bloody conflict and a heavy mortality list, it is not difficult to understand that a small thing like losing one of his teeth in a crowded ice cream parlor might cause enough embarrassment to a man's fiancee to have her quit him for good.

Such is told as a true happening in a large western town. The gentleman in question was the possessor of a white front tooth on a plate that never had fitted, and which especially showed the unwillingness to stay in place while he was engaged in eating. Generally he approached the refreshment member of his masculine machinery; but this time and there always is a "this time" tooth and plate got away from his usually adept control and fell clattering on the table. The crowd indulged in a hearty laugh at his expense and his "front" made for the door in her embarrassment.

A tooth or two on a plate always is a nuisance and a very unnecessary one; for, be the porcelain process of restorative nature in teeth, all plates and every chance of such a perplexing situation may be eliminated. ANNUAL MEETING OF THE HIGHLAND CLUB HELD

Maurice E. Vaillant Was Re-elected President Last Night

MR. MAURICE E. VAILLANT President

In the spacious hall of the Highland club, on Princeton street, which has been the scene of many of the city's most successful social functions, was held last evening, one of the most enthusiastic meetings in the club's history. The affair was the annual meeting, banquet and election of officers of the organization and this fact brought out a very large attendance.

The first "number" was the supper, and after an appetizing repast had been enjoyed, the members sat back and listened with great interest to the proceedings. The feature of the meeting was the report of the special entertainment committee, appointed at the annual meeting a year ago, which was read by Frederick G. Woodworth, chairman of the committee. At the meeting, held last year, this committee was named and given the power to use its own discretion in providing entertainments for the members and their friends. The members, individually subscribed to a fund to defray the expenses of the committee and $40 was realized. On the committee with Mr. Woodworth were John W. Kernan, A. C. McFarland, William E. Potter and Herbert E. Webster, Jr.

Under the auspices of this special committee, the report showed, that some twenty events were conducted and all proved successful, both socially and financially. The ladies auxiliary conducted a series of enjoyable whist parties, from which a neat sum was raised. This was utilized in renovating the ladies' room of the club. The ladies co-oper-lower auditoriums were crowded to the doors. The usual evening services followed the sermon last night.

The morning services are no less well attended and in every respect the mission at St. Patrick's is eminently successful. This week is being devoted exclusively to the women of the parish and next week will be for the men. The topics of the sermons are being well selected and admirably dealt with by these well known fathers, and their words are being deeply appreciated and taken to heart by those who hear them.

The mission for the children of the parish closed today with masses at 8:30 o'clock and a final word of instructions by Father Casey. The children received holy communion in a body at this mass. The attendance was extremely large.

The feast of St. Patrick, postponed from March 17 because of the latter day coming in Holy week, a period of mourning for the Catholic church, was fittingly observed yesterday morning at St. Patrick's church with a high mass at nine o'clock. The celebrant was Rev. Joseph A. Curtin.

One of the Jesuit Fathers who are conducting the mission at St. Patrick's church, preached a very interesting and eloquent sermon appropriate to the occasion, dwelling on the works of Ireland's great saint. The choir rendered special music under the direction of its director and organist.

At St. Peter's

The mission at St. Peter's is to be extended over a period of four weeks, and this week is for the married women of ated with the committee members and that their efforts were successful is evidenced by the exquisite appearance of the parlor at the club. The chairman recommended that the ladies receive the commendation of the members and also their thanks for the improvements that they had made.

The special committee was responsible for the Pop concert, the Winter Garden party, lawn party, several star parties, several "Ladies' Nights," several bowling tournaments and lunches, several dances, and a men's whist with prizes to the winners. All these were conducted by the special committee, and no expense was incurred on the club. Added to the success and sociability of the affairs, Mr. Woodworth at the conclusion said that there was still a balance of some $35 in the committee's treasury. This was the signal for vociferous applause.

After submitting his report, Mr. Woodworth discussed at length recommendations for the advancement and betterment of the club and his remarks brought forth the commendation of many of the members. It was then voted that a rising vote of thanks be extended to the special committee and the ladies' auxiliary for their magnificent work and to request the members of the committee to again serve.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer of the club were read and both showed good results. The resignation of Richard Charlton, who has held the position of secretary for many years was read, and accepted with regret. Mr. Charlton said that his resignation was due to the fact that he is along in years, and he felt that he could not give sufficient time to the duties of his office. He thanked the members for their assistance in the past and said that while he would cease to hold office in the club he will continue to be a member of the organization. After his remarks it was voted that Mr. Charlton be made an honorary member of the club for life.

The officers for the ensuing year were then chosen with the following results: President, Maurice E. Vaillant (re-elected); vice president, George H.

the parish. They are turning out in great numbers for the event. The preacher last night dwelt on the topic of the duties and obligations of the married women in general.

The special retreat for the little girls of the parish is being conducted every afternoon throughout the week, and on each occasion they receive instructions. Their retreat will end with a general receiving of holy communion in a body.

OFFICE, 102 MARKET STREET, LOWELL, MASS.

SATURDAY, APRIL 5th, 1913, AT 1 O'CLOCK P. M.

AT NO. 28 BELLEVUE STREET, LOWELL, MASS.

I shall sell at public auction this modern-built, two and one-half story dwelling house and 550 square feet of land, more or less, and all the household furniture, commencing promptly at 1 o'clock with the household furniture. The real estate will be sold at 3 o'clock.

I wish to call your attention to this sale of real estate, as you will seldom find so good a piece of property at public sale. This residential property is situated on one of the best streets in the Highlands and is thoroughly built.

The foundation on which the house stands is of heavy black granite, all laid in mortar from the very bottom. The house is very heavily timbered with the best grade of lumber that could be bought, so that no expense was saved. The only idea was to get the best, house, that skilled labor, the best of lumber and hardware could produce, and I feel that there has been a realization.

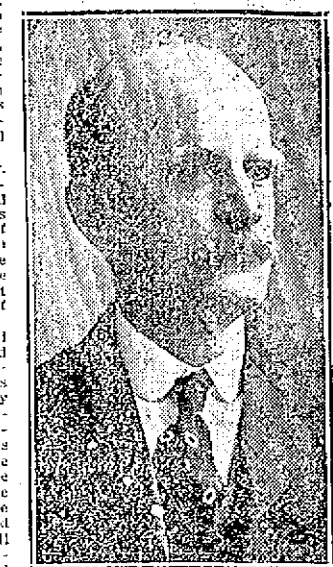

The house is very conveniently arranged. The first floor has vestibule, large hall, all oak finished with oak staircase, large coat closet. The parlor, sitting-room and dining-room are good sized rooms, all connected with large sliding doors, so that if you saw fit, you could practically have the entire four rooms in one, which gives it a very handsome effect. There is a butler's pantry, the dining-room conveniently arranged, large kitchen and pantry with ample closet room. Second floor has five large chambers with large closets in each, and bathroom, so arranged that they all lead from a large well lighted hall. There is also on this floor a large linen closet. Third floor has two square, high posted chambers and a large storeroom. There are front and back stairs. There is every convenience in this house that could be wished for; steam heated, city water, gas and good sewerage.

There is a high posted, cement cellar, all lathed and plastered, divided into wash room, with copper boiler set in; boiler room, coal bin, vegetable cellar, and bulkhead with stone steps leading to the yard.

The house sets back on the lot, is two and one-half story, very handsome architecture, with broad piazza extending across the front, making a very handsome appearance. The grounds are all laid down to a lawn, with shrubs, apple and cherry trees, berry bushes, etc. Concrete walks and everything is in A-1 condition. There is ample room to erect a garage if you so desire. In a quiet neighborhood, near car line, just off Westford street.

Call any time and look it over. Will be glad to show any person desiring to purchase.

Entertained Executive Committee of St. Joseph's College Alumni Last Evening

The members of the executive committee of St. Joseph's college alumni were last night the guests of Rev. Bro. Bernardin, S. M., at the Marist brothers' home in Moody street, and both being together the young men took occasion to hold a business meeting and considerable business was transacted.

In the course of the evening light refreshments were served and a fine concert was given by an orchestra composed of Marist brothers. At 9:30 o'clock President William F. Casse, Jr., called to order and among other things the sum of $25 was voted to be spent at the discretion of Rev. Bro. Bernardin, for the purchase of prizes for pupils of the college at the graduation exercises to be held in June.

It was also decided to hold a free smoke talk for members, the same to be held on Thursday, April 17, at which Lawyer Henri V. Charbonnet will give a lecture on the "Constitution of the United States," and the following committee was appointed to look after arrangements: Eugene Richard, Edmond S. Desmarais and Sam Parent.

The gathering broke up at a late hour, extending a vote of thanks to the brothers for their cordial hospitality.
